

Born in Tiberius, Yossi Rubin was raised in Kfar Ganim, near Petach Tikvah. At the age of 18, he joined the Israeli Army in the Yom Kippur war, and served with Arik Sharon's unit in the Sinai Desert for the next three years. Eventually, Yossi settled in the Artist's Colony in Tzfas and then the Old City of Jerusalem. Influenced by the splendor of Israel's finest landscapes and personal quests, Yossi has created one of the most desirable art collections in the world. His art on parchment lends an eloquence to numerous tfillos and psukim, bringing meticulous safrus to parchments gilded in 24k gold.
